

Article of Faith 7 states: “We believe in the gift of tongues, prophecy, revelation, visions, healing, interpretation of tongues, and so forth.”

Doctrine and Covenants 88:63 “Draw near unto me and I will draw near unto you; seek me diligently and ye shall find me; ask, and ye shall receive; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.”

Elder Dale G. Renlund, A Frame Work for Personal Revelation: “we receive personal revelation within a framework. After baptism, we are given a majestic yet practical gift, the gift of the Holy Ghost. As we strive to stay on the covenant path, it is “the Holy Ghost ... [that] will show [us] all things [that we] should do.” When we are unsure or uneasy, we can ask God for help. The Savior’s promise could not be clearer: “Ask, and it shall be given you; ... for every one that asketh; receiveth.” With the help of the Holy Ghost, we can transform our divine nature into our eternal destiny.”

I have learned that I need to keep practicing receiving revelation and that learning how the spirit speaks to us is a lifelong pursuit. I also learned that building spiritual habits can be quite difficult. I think that over the couple weeks we were doing this activity I learned some things about how I need to learn things and about what it takes to change. Asking with the promise of receiving gives us the strength to push forward through difficult times. Going to places like the temple and sacrament meeting.

Applying these truths has helped me have additional strength and direction by helping me feel the spirit. I feel that when I asked specific questions and looked for ways I could act on promptings I was able to make real changes to my behaviors and attitudes. It really showed me that we do have the ability to change and become better. I wish I had done the activity more thoroughly so that I would have been able to have more specific experiences with the spirit. I feel like between school and work and friends and everything else going on I can get quite distracted from the things I should be focused on.

I plan to write out my goals better so it is easier to follow them and keep up on what I am trying to do. I have found that it helps to have people to help you keep up on your goals as well, to keep each other accountable. I want to keep seeking personal revelation especially related to my study of the scriptures and also in my social life.
